

Cyber Awareness Training

Educate and engage your employees with critical information security exercises to fortify your 'human firewall'

From small nonprofits to global corporations and everything in between, the most valuable asset in any organization remains the same – its employees. Unfortunately, these same individuals are too often the weakest link in a business's cybersecurity defense chain. We can change that.

Omega Systems' end user security awareness program empowers your employees to act as your first line of defense against evolving cybersecurity threats and results in meaningful, sustainable changes to your overall security posture.

Information Security Awareness Program Components

With our Cyber Awareness Training, you reap the benefits of professionally managed integration, setup and maintenance from Omega's SOC team – and can remain focused on your daily responsibilities and workload. Our technicians help you zero in on your ideal training strategy and make campaign recommendations that align with your market, specific business composition and employees' varying levels of proficiency.
